Special Notices.

We, the Members and Congregation of the A.M. E. BETHEL CHURCH, 2d-st., New-York, being personally acquainted with our present Elder (Rev. Leven Tilmon) for many years, and others for the last two years, he being our stationed minister and having visited many of our families, we feel it to be justice to the Brother, the Church, and ourselves, and do not hestitate to assert that we have never seen or known anything in or about his character contary to the strictest rules of moradity; but we have found him always to be a gentleman, a Christian, an honest, up-right man.

mm anways to be a general and a present. All the members and congregation, with but few exceptions, (comparatively speaking,) believe him to be an innecent man, though greatly abused and wrongfully persecuted in the whole affair; but he, as a Christian, has suffered with great patience and fortistade; and it is certified by Recorder Geo. W. Levener, the Chlef Sieward of the Church, he has served the Church faithfully more than seven years, &c.—April 18, 1852.

This work claims to be a solution of the Great Social Problem; a demonstration of the principles of Individual Sover cignty; an interpretation of the laws of equity in social an commercial intercourse; an exposition of the fundamenta principles which must form the basis of a True Social Organization. Simple and original in its principles, clear in its statements, exact in its locit, forcible in its applications, un compromising in its conclusions, it is commended to the attention of those who are seeking to solve the problem of his man destiny. tentron of those who are seeking to solve the produced intendestiny.

"Mr. Andrews has clearly produced ideas which sooner or late must force themselves on the attention of the public. The fairness and ability with which he has treated them are potent to the macroor render."

"This is a work by an original and vigorous thinker. Has view are stated with great clearness, and argued with no little subtlets an force."

"We can give no fair synopsis of the author's views, positions on arguments. To be fully materiated and appreciated, they must be read—read in caterion, and carefully and thoroughly examined.

[Oswogo Palladisen. "Mr. Andrews, the author of this work, is an able writer and a Profound thinker."

This is one of the most remarkable productions we have ever yet read, as well because of the most rews it emmeintes as of the masterly style in which they are expressed. Were his sentiments on many fablicies, it would still be a leaving to read an author who so well expresses himself. Mr. Andrews is no destructive. He has in an action of the Red Republican—at least, not in the officiality sense of that designating."

[Cleveland True Democrat. "Andrews is the theoretic and historic philosopher of what may be regarded as the specifically American form of Socialism. It is the work of an American philosopher, handed in that entimently practical manner which is all things is peculiar to Americane."
